Notes

Mr. Sato fell from grace, hard. Once he had a preen apartment with a downtown view. He made deals happen for Renraku. For a long time, that was his whole purpose in life. But after he was framed, his whole family turned on him. A decade of honorable service evaporated overnight. His worldview shattered, Mr. Sato has found a second life surviving in the underworld. He doesn't yet know what he has to live for, but for now, the pain of that dagger in his back keeps him from going numb.

Old habits die hard. Sato is always lying; it's like breathing to him. He invents his past as he goes along, and never mixes data from his real past life with his shadow world persona.
